"Sectionals" is a term used by musicians to describe the different families of instruments as they separate from the full body of the orchestra to rehearse or perform. Teddy Abrams and the LO offer music by each section of the orchestra. There are amazing works for wind orchestras and glorious pieces for string bands. A piece for the brass section is sure to show-off the heroics of the trumpets and trombones. The Orchestra comes together to perform the "Classical Symphony" by Sergei Prokofiev.
